WHEREAS, Taal Volcano (Filipino: Bulkang Taal) is a large caldera filled by Taal Lake on Luzon island in the Philippines, and is in the province of Batangas. Taal Volcano is the second most active volcano in the country, with 33 recorded historical eruptions, all of which were concentrated on Volcano Island, near the middle of Taal Lake. It is located about 50 kilometres (31 miles) south of the capital of the country, the city of Manila;

LL dtu

WHEREAS, the volcano has had several violent eruptions in the past, causing loss of life on the island and the populated areas surrounding the lake, with the death toll estimated at about 6,000. Because of its proximity to populated areas and its eruptive history, the volcano was designated a Decade Volcano, worthy of close study to prevent future natural disasters. All volcanoes of the Philippines are part of the Pacific Ring of Fire;

WHEREAS, on January 12, 2020, the Taal volcano had another eruption causing Philippine Institute of Volcanology and Seismology (PHIVOLCS) to issue an Alert Level 4, indicating that "a hazardous explosive eruption is possible within hours to days." It was a phreatic eruption from the main crater that spewed ashes to CALABARZON, Metro Manila, some parts of Central Luzon, and Pangasinan in Ilocos Region, resulting in the suspension of classes, work schedules, and flights;

WHEREAS, while no one died nor was hospitalized during the phreatic eruption on January 12, the Department of Health (DOH) has already recorded 39 deaths as of February 1. The recorded deaths were mostly due to anxiety and negligence of the casualties during the span of the evacuation and disaster response. Batangas Provincial Gov. Hermilando Mandanas said the eruption-related death figure in Batangas was confirmed by the DOH. Severe damage to the Philippines' agricultural sector, with losses climbing to ₱3.06 billion. The fisheries sector meanwhile recorded the highest value of damage after the eruption, as it lost ₱1.6 billion for the tilapia and milkfish (bangus) culture around the Taal lake;

WHEREAS, areas in Batangas within a 7-kilometre radius from Taal's main crater are still on lockdown. These include Taal Volcano Island, barangays of Bilibinwang, Subic Ilaya, Banyaga in Agoncillo, barangays of Gulod, Buso-Buso, and Bugaan East in Laurel. At least 129,171 families or 483,389 people have been affected in Batangas, Quezon, Laguna, and Cavite. There are 5,953 families or 20,927 people staying in evacuation centres and 55,036 families or 200,912 persons displaced in host families;

WHEREAS, Filipinos are taught at an early age the value of "pagmamasakit sa kapwa" or knowing how to show concern and empathize with other people. The Municipality of Los Baños is blessed with helpful people which can be seen in their outpouring donations and aid to the victims of Taal volcano eruption;
